Chapter (1) Summary

- The narrator of the story is called Jim Hawkins. His father owned an inn called the Admiral Benbow many years ago. A man walked into the inn. He was tall and strong, with a scar on his face.
- The man decided to stay in the inn. He had a large wooden box. He asked us to call him Captain. In the evenings, he told stories about his time at sea.
- The Captain stayed at the inn for months. One morning, he went for a walk along the beach. Another man walked into the inn and asked about him. He was thin and pale, with three fingers on his left hand.
- When the Captain returned and saw the man. He called the man Black Dog. Jim left them talking. Suddenly, there were loud voices and then I saw Black Dog running away with blood on his arm.
- The Captain fell over. At that moment, a doctor arrived to see Jim's father who was sick. The doctor looked at the Captain and gave him some medicine.
- The Captain stayed in bed, but he was not quiet. He told me about his travels at sea, and said that he had something which people wanted and Black Dog was not as bad as some of the other men.
- That evening, Jim's father died. Then, a week later, Jim saw a blind man coming towards the inn. He stopped outside the door and asked Jim to take him to the Captain who looked very surprised to see him. He then put something in the Captain's hand, turned around and left.
- The Captain suddenly fell to the floor. He was dead. Jim and his mother knew that the Captain had a box in his room and it probably had money in it. The blind man and Black Dog probably wanted this.
- Jim thought about taking the box to Dr Livesy, but he knew they were in danger, so they asked their neighbours for help, but they refused. Only one of them went to tell Dr Livesy.
- They found the box key and the message that the blind man gave to the Captain. It said, "You have until ten o'clock tonight."
- Jim's mother opened the box and found some clothes, some guns, some papers and other things. They also found a bag with some coins inside.
- Jim asked to leave before the blind man and Black Dog return at ten o'clock. They took the money and the papers and walked as quickly as they could back towards the village, but as they walked, they heard the sound of people on the road behind them.
- His mother asked him to take the money and run as she was too weak to continue. Jim did not want to leave her, so they stopped under a bridge, where they could hide in the dark.

I don't think they were helpful, as they didn't want to help Jim and his mother by guarding the inn and they refused to go back with them.

I think that it meant they would come to the Captain to take what he had and kill him.

- Jim could see eight men. One of them was the blind man. They ran inside the Admiral Benbow Inn. They found Bill dead. The blind man asked them to find his box.
- They found out that someone opened the box. The blind man knew that it was Jim and his mother who did that. The men started to look around the house. At this time, they heard horses coming down the road and they started to run in all directions.
- Jim ran out to see who was riding the horses. One of them was the boy who went to get Dr Livesy, and the rest were policemen. Two men took his mother to the village, and the others tried to catch the men who escaped on a boat.
- Jim returned to the Admiral Benbow with the police who asked him about what they wanted. He showed them the papers that he still had in his jacket. Jim wanted to take them to Dr Livesy and the head of the police, Mr Dance, agreed as Dr Livesy was a magistrate as well as a doctor. And he'd know what to do.
- They found that Dr Livesy was not at home, but was eating at the house of Mr Trelawney, an important rich man. Mr Trelawney asked them into his house. Jim showed Mr Trelawney and Dr Livesy the papers that the Captain had in his box.
- The doctor thought this might be a clue to the place where Flint buried his treasure. Mr Trelawney agreed with him and suggested that they should take the next boat from Bristol and find the treasure themselves.
- The doctor looked at the papers. Some of them seemed to describe the ships that the Captain and his men had robbed. Then they looked at the other papers and saw a map of an island, with a big cross on it next to the words, "most of the treasure here."
- Mr Trelawney asked Dr Livesy to go to Bristol the next day as in a few days. He wanted Jim Hawkins to come as their ship's boy and Dr Livesy as the ship's doctor. The doctor agreed, but he was worried that those men who tried to find the map would look for them.
- It took them longer than they thought to be ready to leave England. While Mr Trelawney prepared for the journey in Bristol, Jim stayed at Mr Trelawney's house with his servant Redruth and spent hours studying the map, thinking about the treasure that they might find.
- One day, a letter was sent to Jim from Mr Trelawney. It said that a good man called Blandly had a ship called the Hispaniola for them. Trelawney said that he had found a crew ready to work on it. The crew included a man called Long John Silver, who had lost a leg but was a good cook. Silver also knew other men who would join them.
- Jim was surprised by this, as he thought they had to keep the news of the treasure a secret. He was very excited by the thought of the journey and he went to say goodbye to his mother at the Admiral Benbow Inn. He was very sad to leave her the next day when he travelled to Bristol with Redruth. They had just one night in the city before they were going to sail.

Critical Thinking Q & A

No, I don't think so as they were interested in finding the box only to get what was inside it.

As the head of the police said that Dr Livesy was a magistrate and a doctor who would know what to do with the papers in the Captain's box.

As anyone knew about the treasure became interested and wanted to join them.

No, I think they had to keep it secret as other people especially greedy sailors would try to get the treasure and get rid of them.

I think they were lucky because the police and Dr Livesy arrived on horses when the boy from the village went and got them.

- Silver was surprised when he saw it was from Mr Trelawney. While they were going to him, Silver talked about boats and Jim knew that he was a great sailor.
- Mr Trelawney told them that they had to leave at four o'clock that afternoon. And asked Jim to get his hat to go on the ship. When they walked onto the Hispaniola, the Captain, Smollett, did not look happy to see them. He didn't like the men on this ship and he was not happy about where they were going. The crew told him they were looking for treasure which always meant danger. He didn't want to show anyone the map for fear of a mutiny.
- Dr Livesy thought that they had two good men on the ship: Silver and Captain Smollett. Mr Trelawney knew that Silver is a good man, but he didn't think Captain Smollett was and Jim agreed with him.

- One night, Jim climbed inside the apple barrel to eat an apple. He heard a man talking nearby.
- Silver was saying that Flint was the Captain. It was then that he lost his leg and Pew became blind. After that journey, he put a lot of money in the bank. It was a great journey, and most of the same crew were on the ship that day.
- Another sailor called Dick told him that he wouldn't be able to return to Bristol after the journey. They would have lots of money. Another man said that he was tired of waiting and asked when they could attack Captain Smollett.
- Silver asked him to be patient as Mr Trelawney had the map. They might also want Smollett to take them home. Silver threatened that they wanted to do things quickly and that's what Pew and Flint wanted to do, so Pew was blind and Flint was dead. Silver asked them to wait for the right time to kill them all.

- As there was no wind, Dr Livesy knew they could not take the ship, even if they wanted to attack the six men who stayed on the ship with them. Then, they heard that Jim Hawkins was on the island with Silver and his men. They were very worried about him.
- Dr Livesy decided to take a boat to the shore with another man called Hunter. When they reached the island, they found a small fort. It was big enough for about twenty-five people and was very well defended. Then the doctor heard a shout.
- They ran back to the boat and returned to the Hispaniola. They put food, medicines and guns in the boat. And threatened Silver's men that if they tried to contact Silver, they would be dead.
- The doctor took the boat back to the beach with Hunter and another sailor called Joyce. They took everything to the fort and returned to the Hispaniola where Trelawney helped to put food and more weapons into the boat.
- They called for Captain Smollett, Redruth and a good sailor called Abraham Gray, and they climbed into the boat with them.
- There were more people and supplies, so the boat was heavy and very close to the water. Then Dr Livesy looked round and realised that the men on the Hispaniola were preparing a cannon.
- It would be easy for them to hit the ship. Trelawney stood up with a gun and fired at the pirates, and one of them fell. The other pirates were getting into their boats.
- Trelawney fired his gun again and the ship started to sink, but they were near the beach and it was not difficult to walk to, but we had lost many of our supplies in the water, including some of our guns.
- The pirates were near. They had to get to the fort before the pirates got to the beach. At last, they saw the fort in front of them. At the same time, seven pirates arrived at the other side of it.
- Before we could enter the fort, they heard another gunfire, and Redruth was dead. Trelawney was very sad.
- Captain Smollett put up a flag. He knew that they needed the supplies that were lost in the sea. At that moment, they heard gun fire and the fort was nearly hit.
- The pirates could see the flag, so Mr Trelawney thought that they should take it down, but Captain Smollett refused. They heard someone shouting. It was Jim Hawkins who was still alive and safe.

Critical Thinking Q & A

1. Why do you think it would be easy for the six men to hit Dr Livesy and his men with a cannon?

Because Dr Livesy and his men were moving so slowly that they were not far from the ship.

2. Why do you think it was difficult for Dr Livesy and his men to move towards the beach near the fort?

I think the wind blew from a different direction, so it was hard to sail the boat.

3. "We have guns. If you try to contact Silver, you will be dead." Why were the six men surprised when Dr Livesy said these words?

Because they didn't expect that Dr Livesy knew that they worked for Silver.

Yes, because the group needed to reach the fort first to protect themselves from Silver's men.

5. Why do you think Dr Livesy and his men chose the fort to be a shelter for them?

Because it was big and well-defended and it had water.

6. Why do you think Dr Livesy and his men were not afraid of Silver and his men on the island?

Silver's men didn't have guns, but Dr Livesy and his men did.

7. Why do you think their journey to the beach in a small boat was difficult?

I think it was difficult because there were too many men in it while the pirates were chasing them and the men on the ship wanted to fire cannons at them.

8. Even if there hadn't been strong wind, Smollett wouldn't have taken the ship back. Do you agree? Why?

Yes, because Jim was on the island, and they were worried about him.

Do you think it was good advice?

Yes, it was good advice because it saved them.
