A-Read the following text then do the tasks below:

Water isn't only necessary for drinking, but also for cooking, washing, growing food, making things and caring for animals. 18% of the world's population don't have safe drinking water, and 42% are without clean water for washing. There's a lot of water in the world, but unfortunately 97.5% is sea water, which isn't drinkable. Most fresh water is in the form of ice, so we have to look after the remaining 1% of water carefully. In developing countries, women and girls, waste time and energy carrying water instead of working to improve their lives. Women also suffer, because they need clean water when they are pregnant or looking after young babies. Diseases carried in water kill up to ten million children a year, putting mothers and their unborn children at risk .

B -Read the following text then do the tasks below:

every year, over 1,000 people will get hit by lightning this way. When lightning strikes a phone line, it travels down the phone line, and if you are holding the phone at that time, it will reach you. So if there is a lightning storm, you should not use the phone. You should not be in the bath or shower, either, because lightning can strike metal pipes and cause an electric shock. It's best to stay away from computers too – anything that can carry an electrical charge from the lightning to your body. We all know that the Earth is getting warmer. This will cause the icebergs to crack and pieces will break off. And when that happens, the water level will rise. Scientists have predicted a sea level change by the year 2100. They estimate that the sea will rise 50 centimetres, on average, by that time. The rise will come from warmer sea temperatures, and from melting ice. This rise in sea level will have a dramatic effect on coastal cities and towns all over the world.

Write true (T) or false (F) :

12. Lightning can strikes you through the phone line.
13. Metal pipes don't cause an electrical shock .
14. Rising sea levels won't be a problem .

A-Read the following text then do the tasks below:

Some psychologists have identified three elements to happiness – having pleasures in life, using your strengths in a positive way and having a spiritual life. Happiness is good for your health. Experiments prove that it gives you a strong immune system, and you recover from surgery more quickly. You don't need to have a lot of money to be happy, although living in poverty makes life difficult. But once you reach a reasonable level of income, more money doesn't make you any happier. A chemical called serotonin in our brain contributes to the feeling of happiness. Positive feelings are linked to more electrical activity on the left side of the brain, and negative feelings to the right side. Happy, smiling people have more brain activity on the left. Married people are happier than single people, and the happiest people spend the least time alone and don't care about buying possessions.

Choose the right answer (a , b or c) to complete the following :

1. According to psychologists ,is one of the elements of happiness .

B -Read the following text then do the tasks below:

How to be a good listener? We all listen to people talking, all the time. But how much do we actually listen, rather than just hear what someone is saying? Use eye contact to let the speaker know that you are listening. concentrate! if you find your attention fading, start repeating what the speaker has just said, aloud, as if agreeing or reflecting on the content. It'll help to keep your mind focused on what the speaker is saying. Let the speaker talk! It's tempting to start talking about a similar experience or problem you had, but wait until the speaker has finished talking. Don't turn the attention on yourself. Avoid distractions, If the room is too hot or cold to concentrate on what the speaker is saying, do something about it! If there is background noise and you can't hear very well, or focus completely on the speaker, say so. It's much better to stop the speaker while you try to solve the problem of distractions, than let someone talk while you are clearly unable to listen properly.

Write true (T) or false (F) :

12. Eye contact is necessary for good listening .
13. It is good to talk about a similar experience while the speaker is speaking .
14. If there is noise in the room , don't tell the speaker about it .
