If you go to some places in Asia, you might see some amazing snakes that can fly! Scientists have asked why they do this. The answer is that it is easier for snakes to travel this way because they live in an area full of tall trees. If they didn't fly, they would have gone down one tree and then climb up the next one. It is much easier and quicker for them to jump from one tree and fly to the next. The snakes can fly about 24 metres at ten metres a second. How do they do this? Scientists now know that the snakes put their bodies in the shape of an S and move very slowly. If the scientists hadn't used digital cameras to film them in slow motion, we might never have known this.
