Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

“A friend in need is a friend indeed.” Has that wise saying been proved to you? Did any of your close friends ever stand beside you at the times of sorrow, distress or the times of joy? That has become a needle in a haystack at those times of struggling and climbing on the shoulders of others.

At the very beginning of one’s life, a child makes friends with a lot of peers who are maybe a mixture of good or bad. He, due to his young age, can’t perfectly judge or decide who to continue keeping or losing friendship with. By the time he becomes older, the number of friends decreases to a number that doesn’t exceed the number of one hand fingers. It all depends on to what extent they are faithful, selfless and honest to each other.

Friendship that all mankind always search for, as it’s mainly a human instinct and man is social by nature, has become a rare value. Friends can help you celebrate good times and provide support in bad ones . They prevent isolation and loneliness and increase your sense of belonging. The so called “Friends” on social media, because you only contact with them and limit themselves in comments or emojis to congratulate and condole instead of hastening to stand right next to you unless they have tough conditions, are false friends. My advice is to carefully choose your friends.
